Hi drivers,

The better weather has eventually arrived and what a turn out there was for the charity event on the Bank Holiday Monday. There was a large cross section of classes with the 235mm and 200mm classes been combined, this still left six separate classes to get through. In the modified electric final there was some very close racing with Olly Jefferies taking the win by the narrowest of margins from Chris Grainger. Adam Catchpole dominated the 200mm final as did Daniel Bancroft in the 1/8th. Chris Edwards putting in strong performances in both 1/8th and 200mm. Amusing class of the day was the stock electric, it contained modern touring cars an old Tamiya F1 and a few Mardave v12's all running

Identical 20 turn motors. The win was taken by Alex Whitwam with a touring car with yours truly trailing him home with the F1. Thanks to all involved for running a superb day and also to all those who donated to the charity, a very worthy cause "The Carole Palmer Trust".

Last weekend also saw another indoor event there was a good turnout of micros and mardaves but only the one 1/12 which at the side of everything else on the evening appeared to be twice as fast.

Not much else to report the results for the summer series, both regular and evening will be posted on the website so there seems little point putting them in here, but I would just say that when the younger end racing on a Wednesday evening start on Sundays your in for some more serious competition, young Matt Stables looks very promising with his 200mm.

So long for now Mark.
